Report Background

The City Council and staff value input and feedback from the University Place community. As part of the effort to continue improving communications, the City solicited resident feedback through the grant funded 2010 Citizen Survey and a series of grant funded 2011 focus groups. Both the format and content of this report reflect the information received from the survey and focus group participants.

Streets and Roads

Resident street approval ratings remained the same in 2010 as 2007 for streets, and declined slightly for street sweeping. Eighty-eight percent of resident respondents rated neighborhood street condition as "good" or "mostly good" in both 2007 and 2010. Sixty-five percent rated street sweeping as "excellent" or "good" in 2007, compared to 60 percent in 2010.

Over the past few years, street sweeping has been reduced from monthly to 10 times annually for main (arterial) streets, and from quarterly to once annually for residential streets.

The City crack sealed over twice as many lane miles (one mile of a two lane road = two lane miles) of streets in 2010 as in 2008 or 2009. Meanwhile, asphalt patching, a longer lasting but more expensive and labor intensive repair, has been reduced. In 2010, the City used 71 tons of asphalt for patching, compared to 194 tons in 2008.

Public Safety

Residents responded that they feel about as safe in their neighborhoods alone in 2010 as they did in 2007. Four percent less respondents feel safe or reasonably safe walking alone during the day, and six percent more feel safe or reasonably safe at night in their neighborhoods.

Total calls for service, including any point of contact with Police, decreased by seven percent from 2008 to 2010.

During that same period, the number of police officers was reduced, resulting in a call per officer increase of 376 calls.

General Government

City staff, including contracted police officers, was reduced by about one-third between 2008 and 2010, during the same period the City's operating budget was significantly reduced.

In 2010, the percent of resident respondents who agreed or strongly agreed that the tax burden is about right for the services they receive declined from 54 percent to 46 percent. Sixty percent agreed or strongly agreed that the City keeps them well-informed about City issues, compared to 80 percent in 2007. During that period, the number of City newsletters, which was the channel for delivering the survey, was reduced from 12 to six.

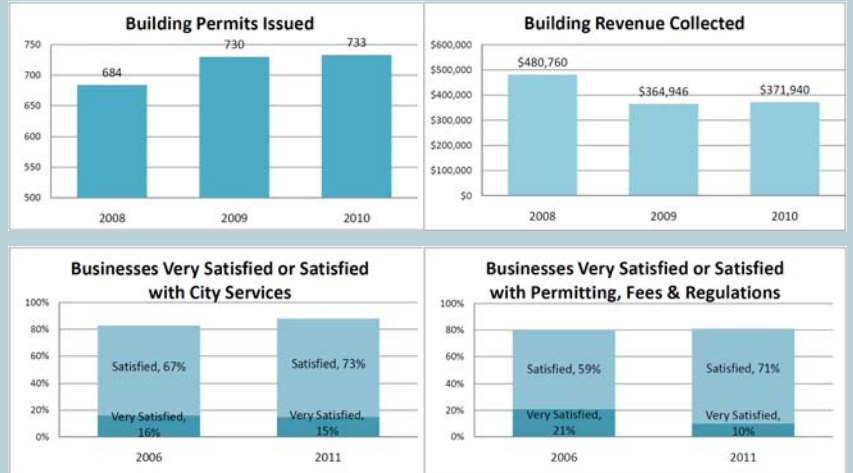

Community & Economic Development

In 2010, the Civic Building became the first built space available in Town Center and the Library began transitioning into its space, occupying one-third of the built space available in Town Center.

Between 2008 and 2010, permit activity increased slightly as building permits issued increased by 49. Over the same period, building revenue collected decreased by more than $100,000.

Eighty-eight percent of U.P. business respondents indicated that they are satisfied or very satisfied with City services, compared to 83 percent in 2006. Over the same period, business respondents indicating they are satisfied or very satisfied with the permitting process, fees and regulations increased by one percent to 81 percent, with about a ten percent increase in those responding 'satisfied' and decrease in those 'very satisfied'.

Parks and Recreation

Seventy-five percent of U.P. resident respondents indicated that they have visited at least one City park in the last year, while 30 percent said they participated in at least one recreation program.

In 2010, the full time recreation staff decreased from six to four employees. The number of programs offered and participants in 2010 also decreased from 2009, to 1,243 and 13,218, respectively. Individuals are counted as participants in each program in which they participate.

City park acreage increased by 25 acres since 2007 and the Recreation Department received over 1,200 more hours of volunteer support from the community in 2010 as in 2008.

Visited 1 or more U.P. Parks in 2010	Participated in 1 or more Recreation Programs in 2010

The indicators selected for this report were based on citizen input through the 2010 Citizen Survey and 2011 focus groups. Content was collected through the most recent Citizen Surveys (2007 and 2010), Business Surveys (2006, 2011), and from data collected by City staff.

The financial data above is taken directly from the City of University Place's 2010 Comprehensive Financial Report (CAFR). The 2010 CAFR was audited by the Washington State Auditor's Office.

Due to the timing of revenues and expenditures, at the end of 2010, revenues collected exceeded expenditures. In some cases, revenue is not spent in the year collected, but used for multi-year projects, such as Storm Water Management improvements or other future projects. For details about what is included in each category or if you have other questions, please contact the City or see the 2010 CAFR.

Shared Taxes

The City relies on taxes, in addition to fees, grants and other revenues, to provide services. In fact, sales and property tax revenue account for almost 1/3 of the City's revenues. The City receives about 8 percent of what you pay in property tax and 9 percent of what is paid in University Place in sales tax.
